

METHOD AND SYSTEM FOR MANAGING AND MONITORING AN ORGANIZATION

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and system for managing and monitoring an organization. The organization includes goals, programs, and resources. The organization also includes a value chain, which represents how the organization conducts itself and produces value. The value chain consists of value chain components that each relate to an aspect of the organization. The invention allows the goals, programs, and resources to be linked to each other and to the value chain and value chain components.